ALBERTA DEPUTY MINISTER IS NEW C. E. A. HEAD

In convention at Charlottetown, P. E. I., last week, the Canadian Education Association's scope was extended to include Newfoundland, and will henceforth be known as the Education Association of Canada and Newfoundland.

Dr. G. Fred McNally, of Edmonton, deputy minister of education for Alberta, was elected president.

PROBABLY ABE DIDN'T SEE THE JOKE

In his Sunday broadcast Premier Aberhart quoted from a letter he said he had received (writer unnamed), a statement that he (the writer) had listened "on the air" to Mr. Aberhart for the past twenty-five years. What loyalty! He listening in anti-dates broadcasting by about ten years.

Coleman schools will re-open for the fall term on Monday next.

COLEMAN MAN IS DROWNED AT MUNDARE

William Makowechuk, aged 37, a Ukrainian miner who formerly lived at Coleman, was found drowned at the bottom of a 42-foot well near Mundare, Alberta, on the night of Tuesday, August 16th. He disappeared on Monday night, and on Tuesday members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, conducting a search, found the casing of an old well broken. The body was recovered from 20 feet of water with grappling hooks.

Makowechuk leaves his widow and three children.

It is said that Makowechuk left Coleman some time ago in search of work on the prairie.

THEY WANT TO BE HONEST

There has been a considerable hullabaloo raised by leaders of the Social Credit forces because it was announced that Albertans were renewing mortgages at a lower rate of interest and otherwise making provision to pay something on their debts. Just why all the noise is being made because some debtors and creditors are mutually arranging their individual business affairs is hard to fathom.

There are very few doubts in this province who are so dumb as to believe that the government of the province of Alberta will ever pay their debts for them, so why shouldn't these debtors do business on a mutual agreement basis with those to whom they are indebted? Even with all the numerous debt laws, both good and bad, that we have in Alberta, it is safe to say that at least 90 per cent of the people of this province are still honest and desire to meet the other fellow half way in any settlement rather than go to the law courts. — Ex.

Mrs. J. S. McEachern and Miss Charlotte McEachern returned to Lethbridge from a holiday motor trip to Prince Edward Island.

NEW MINE RESCUE STATION

The West Canadian residence on the south side of main street, about one block west of the west ward school, formerly occupied by Mrs. Robertson, is being remodelled to be known in future as the District Mine Rescue Station, with Ed. Royle in charge and Phone 37.

The old obsolete mine rescue car is being discarded, and all apparatus is being transferred to the new station. In addition, new furniture and equipment are being installed.

The old rescue car has served its day, and must give place to something more modern and efficient. Now, the motor truck can more readily respond to a call than the engine-driven car. At the new station apparatus can immediately be loaded on a truck and rushed to the scene of accident. It is an excellent move and a most desirable location.

FLYING MEN WANTED

- (f) Otherwise suitable, including appearance, character and personality.

SPORTS AT NATAL

A programme of sports will be staged on the Elk Valley ball park on Labor Day. There will be baseball and football competitions. Children's sports will be under the management of Michel Local Union 7292. At night dances will be staged in the Venezia and L.O.O.F. halls. The entire affair is under the auspices of the Elk Valley Sports Association of Natal. Entries for baseball and football are to be in the hands of the secretary-treasurer, Mr. T. J. Thompson, not later than 8 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Upham returned Friday last from a holiday spent in the vicinity of Nelson, B.C. At that point they met with quite a number of former residents of Blairmore, including Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burns, and Mr. and Mrs. "Sandy" Burnett; as well as quite a number from this district who were also in camp there. At Castlegar they met Harry Sommers, and at Rosland Mr. and Mrs. R. Biell at their big 50-room hotel.

On vacation at Hamilton, Ontario, Lieut. W. Harold Grady and his wife suffered severe injuries in an automobile collision, while their two small sons were badly shaken up. Mr. Grady had six ribs broken, an injured knee and other bruises. Mrs. Grady's left leg was broken above the knee, her shoulder dislocated and three ribs were broken. Lieut. Grady is a son of A. F. Grady, of Macleod. It will be a month or more before they can return home to Macleod.

COULD HA' BEEN

A DADDY, BY GOSH!

It is rather unfortunate that the Hon. Solon Low made the announcement last week that no "baby banks" were to be born in Alberta during 1938. If this harsh order banning fertility had not been issued, it is just possible our neighboring towns of Three Hills might have made the headlines of the daily press with: "Sextuplets Born to Father of Social Credit," and thus stolen the spotlight from Callander and the famous Dionne quintuplets. However, if the good Sorcerer of Three Hills religiously follow Mr. Aberhart's advice to "keep up their vitality," it may just be a case of hope deferred and the "big event" may transpire sometime during 1939. It is also noteworthy that the Hon. Solon is not living up to the best orthodox traditions and tenets of the Mormon church in thus issuing a decree on birth control.—Trochu Tribune.

"TALES OF THE KOOTENAYS"

Brimful of interest to anyone who has lived in the Crow's Nest Pass or the Kootenays is Fred Smyth's book of narratives or "Tales of the Kootenays," a copy of which (complimentary) reached our desk last week.

The book contains some 200 or more pages and history dating back as far as 1768.

We have not yet had time to compile reading the book, but what we have read has proved intensely interesting.

Fred Smyth is very well known throughout the entire Crow's Nest Pass, and we doubt if the task of gathering such an interesting volume together could have fallen in better hands.

Anyone desiring to secure a copy should write Mr. Smyth at Cranbrook. The market price has not yet been announced.

A dollar a mile will wipe off the smile of the driver who thinks he's a honey. A dollar a mile may not be a pile, but at 75 it's real money. The Buffalo court judge who fined a young man $75 for courting about the city streets of South Buffalo at 75 miles per hour has a good idea. It helps to swell the city treasury, and may serve as a governor on the cars of speeding monkeys.

The big Social Credit rally in Calgary on Saturday attracted an audience estimated at 1000. A year previous, a wire was sent to Mackenzie King stating that 20,000 were in attendance. No wire was sent this year, which makes Mackenzie King and everybody else laugh. At the celebration in 1939 the attendance should be the one-hundredth part of one person. That's how Social Credit is growing.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS

Mr. Putter was dining at the golf club, and was amazed to see his wife in cap and apron approaching the table to take his order. "I knew you wouldn't object to my getting a job here, Harold," she said. "It's so nice to see you sometimes."

Aberhart stated Sunday: "No great reform was ever accomplished in three years." Yet, he no doubt recalls his statements of three years ago that dividends would be paid in less than three months. Why make that definite statement then?

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, of Ymir, at the Nelson hospital on August 18th. Mr. Thompson is son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Thompson, of Blairmore, while Mrs. Thompson was formerly Miss Dora Burrows, of Coleman.

Mr. J. R. W. Teasdale, who was on survey work in the Crow's Nest Pass district some months ago, and since in the Nordegg district, was called to Drumheller last week owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Teasdale, who is in the Drumheller hospital.

A half-wit remarked on Saturday night: "Boy, believe it or not, but Alberta legally has a government." Well, it's good to know that. The average person would not realize it, were it not for unnecessary dismissals and increased new taxes.

An inventory of the few in town who are not readers of The Enterprise is to be taken, and our bet is that Enterprise readers in Blairmore are nearer 90 per cent of the total population than Aberhart's majority of Social Crediters ever was in Alberta.

The Blairmore United Church Sunday school held their annual picnic on Wednesday afternoon at a point on Burns Creek across from the Crystal Dairy. A most joyous time is reported, with the largest attendance of parents, teachers and pupils on record.

James Bennett, who for many years has successfully operated a farm about three miles south of Lundbreck will on Monday next dispose of stock, farm machinery, implements, etc., at his ranch by public auction. Mr. Bennett has not announced his future plans.

Commander Frank Monroe Hawks, internationally famed speed-plane and glider pilot, was instantly killed when his machine collided with a high-tension wire near Buffalo on Tuesday night. His companion, J. Hazard Campbell, of New York, also died of injuries.

George McEae and family, who had been holidaying in Nelson and other British Columbia points, passed east through Blairmore on Sunday afternoon, enroute to their home in Calgary. George is South Alberta representative of the Mid-West Paper Sales Ltd.

Sir Edward Beatty, president of the C.P.R., will be present at Cranbrook during the week September 5 to 10, inclusive, for the big 40th anniversary celebration. President Beatty has arranged to stop over in Cranbrook in the course of his annual tour of inspection of western lines.

The rector, walking over his sun-burnt lawn, said to the gardener: "Everything looks terribly dried up, Jacob; I think I shall pray for rain tomorrow." And the old man replied: "Don't think me interferin', sir, but it ain't much use prayin' for rain with the wind in the north!"

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Morrison, for upwards of thirty-three years residents of Coleman, have decided to move to the Pacific coast to make their future home. They will be very much missed in Coleman and The Pass. During the past week they have been very much feted and fawelled.

The annual session of the L.O.O.F. Sovereign Grand Lodge will be held at Oklahoma City from September 19th to 25th. J. Edward Kroh, who has been secretary for a number of years, has notified the Grand Sir that, owing to failing health, he will not be a candidate for re-election this year.

It is said that Corrigan, who made air history by his flight from America to Ireland, was at one time a Boy Scout in a New York City troop. He declared his hiking experience had proved of value to him when he was up flying. But surely he didn't get his idea of travelling in reverse from scouting?

The remains of the late John Bovio were laid to rest in the general Protestant cemetery at Bellevue on Sunday afternoon last. The funeral was very largely attended. The late Mr. Bovio is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. John Rymaeker, of Bellevue, and Mrs. Joe Krokos, junior, of Blairmore.

Minnie Elizabeth MacLeod, aged 31, and her brother, John William MacLeod, aged 33, passed away within five hours at Plymouth and McLean's Brook, N.S., on August the 23rd. Both had been in failing health for some time, but their deaths were unexpected. They were children of Mr. and Mrs. J. Angus MacDonald, of Mountville. The double funeral took place on August the 25th.

Since her maiden voyage in June, 1935, the French liner Normandie has crossed the Atlantic more than 100 times and carried 250,137 people.

Extols Virtue Of Honey

New York Doctor Considers It Most Valuable Food

Honey is "Nature's own sweet, untouched by human art," according to Dr. Bogos Beck, writing in his book, "Honey and Health."

"Honey and other simple and natural sugars, like that in dates, figs, raisins, etc., are live physiological sugars which contain the germs of life, while industrial sugars are anti-physiological, dead, or, as a matter of fact, murdered sweets," he writes.

Fursing this line of thought, Dr. Beck deems honey in hot water better than alcohol as a quick pickup; he says that the ancient Greek athletes wisely used it before entering the arena; that it prolongs life, being responsible for Anacron's living to the age of 115; Pythagoras to 90, and probably for the long life of Moses and Methuselah, while Thomas Parr, who died in 1657, at the age of 152, was devoted to a honey drink known as methglin.

It is a good expectorant, according to Hippocrates; a diuretic, according to the Koran; an aphrodisiac, according to the Hindus; Douglas; an anti-rheumatic, according to Dr. Beck's correspondent, J. L. McD., of Marion, Ind.; an anti-diabetic, according to Dr. A. V. Davidson, of Russia; a bactericide, according to Chinese and the Hindus; and a New York State subscriber to the American Bee Journal; it is also an excellent preservative and one of the finest cosmetics. And the date is the only edible substance which surpasses honey in calories.

Had Celebrities For Clients

Man Who Built Hugo Candie For Caruso Is Dead

Antonio Ajello, 78, one of the world's leading candlemakers, whose clients included Enrico Caruso, Col. Cass. Lindbergh, Mussolini and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, is dead. In his New York workshops were preserved many of the craft secrets of the medieval guilds, including the arts of timing candles, perfuming them, and sculpturing them. He came here from Italy at the age of two. When Caruso died he built a candle, 18 feet high, five feet in circumference. It cost $3,700 and it burned a year in a church in Pompeii.

Farmer Was Surprised

Templed by a field of ripe corn, a tourist passing through Gilead, Ont., recently stopped and picked a few ears. The farmer, passing a few hours later, was surprised to see an envelope tucked to a fence post. Still more surprised was he when he opened the envelope, and found it contained a dollar bill and a note reading, "Thanks for the corn."

During the Civil War, the North maintained one of the longest blockades in history. The blockade was 2,500 miles long and was held, for the most part, by merchant ships.

Re-patriated to Canada under the general repatriation scheme the Spanish Government is putting into effect for foreign volunteers, the above group of Canadians, most of them having served for the past two years in the Mackenzie-Papineau or the Lincoln battalions on the Loyalist side, returned to Canada on the "Empress of Britain". They are, from left to right: Joseph Laurin, of Toronto; Walter Woodman, of Fort William; David Harvey, of Vancouver, and John Keitaananta, of Toronto. Standing: John Gilstrap, of Vancouver; Sam Stefanuk, of Toronto; Lloyd Evans, of Regina; James Wilson, of Edmonton, and James Bayden, of Winnipeg. Some of the boys admitted they were "war weary."

An Insulin Herb

Old Indian Remedy Being Investigated By Doctors

Possibility of a new source of insulin, obviating the necessity of hypodermic injections for diabetes, is shown in the experiments of Dr. R. G. Large and Dr. H. N. Brockley of Prince Rupert, B.C., with an old Indian herb, remedy. The experiments are reported in the Canadian Medical Association Journal and deal with the roots of "devil's club," a shrub that grows wild on the Pacific coast. Made by boiling bark from the plant roots, the extract, taken through the mouth, has given remarkable results in reducing sugar in the blood of diabetic rabbits, the article said. The doctors' attention was drawn to the remedy through use of it by a patient, with apparently good results.—Brandon Sun.

Seems Quiet Enough

American Writer Found No War Scare In London

This story by Ernest L. Meyer appeared in the New York Post: "I arrived in London under a misapprehension. Judging from the war scare stories printed in the American press this year, I imagined that every man, woman and baby in this metropolis walked the streets in gas masks and anxiously inquired of the traffic policeman the road to the nearest bombproof shelter."

In my two days in London I have seen no gas masks and no refuge from air bombs, though I understand a model bomb and gas-proof shelter is being exhibited somewhere, mostly, I suspect, for the benefit of tourists and for an admission fee. Because the British have a habit of exacting admission fees for all sort of points of interest from the chapel in Westminster to the historic tavern where Dr. Johnson splashed his wet wit with a schooner of sack."

Now I have wandered about considerably in London and talked to sundry citizens ranging from college professors to taxi drivers, and nowhere have I found evidence of average Londoner's living in a state of jitter with one eye turned to the zenith in search of a Zeppelin.

In fact, the average male from Piccadilly to points east and west walks the streets briskly and confidently with apparently no object in life except to prove to foreigners that an Englishman can wear a bowler and swing a tightly-rolled umbrella and still look like the backbone of an Empire.

There are compensations in everything. A glass eye, for example, never catches cold from the draft through a keyhole.

Thirty-four per cent of the world's copper resources are in Chile. The United States has about 20 per cent.

Quite Forgotten

Man Who Stops Advertising Is Like This College Professor

A superannuated Toronto University professor went to Europe for a year immediately after his release—this after 40 years with the University. When he returned, he went to Hart House to luncheon, and fully expected that his old professional associates would greet him as the prodigal son. He was greeted by his father. But, with a single exception, all the men present paid not a particle of attention to the returned professor. One man saw how the old professor was hurt by the non-welcome, and had the grace to make a small fuss over him.

As I listened to this tale I thought of how an advertiser who quits advertising is dismissed—of how promptly the public forgets, of how unperceived is the return of a long-absent advertiser. An advertiser can keep himself in the public's eye and favor only by persistent advertising. Let him quit advertising, and the public forgets him as quickly as it forgets the dead.—J. C. K., in Marketing.

The World's Great Need

An Enlightened Leadership Which Today's Youth Must Furnish

If there is one commodity in which the world is short today, it is enlightened leadership, states the Rotarian Magazine. The need is written in every new day's headlines. As men and citizens we should be looking ahead to preparing enlightened leadership for tomorrow. And from whence will it come if not from the ranks of healthy, normal, boy's sons of good parents, the products of the hard-won advantages of our civilization?

Comes news of a college professor who quit teaching European history and went into retirement. He couldn't keep up with it.

"You know, dear, marriage is a serious business. When we are married you'll have to cook my meals."

"Yes, darling, and you'll have to eat them."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 28

ELI: RESPONSIBILITY FOR OTHERS

Golden text: Train up a child in the way he should go. Proverbs 22:6.

Lesson: I. Samuel 2:12; 4:18. Devotional reading: Galatians 6:7-10.

Explanations And Comments

The Message that Came to Samuel, I. Samuel 3:1-18. "The Voice came to Samuel a Vision, for he seemed to see Jehovah standing before him and saying: 'Behold, I will do a thing in Israel, at which both the ears of every one that heareth it shall tingle.' The latter clause is a proverbial expression meaning that the news will create great astonishment and alarm. The next chapter tells what the news would be—the defeat of Israel by the Philistines, the capture of the ark, and the death of Eli's sons and of Eli himself. 'In that day I will perform against Eli all that I have spoken concerning his house'; see 2:27-36. The preliminary judgment on Eli's sons followed swiftly, but that on Eli's house came some 20 or 30 years later. 'I will punish [Judge] him because of the evil which he has done, and because for his sons brought a curse upon themselves and he did not restrain them.' Eli had associated his sons with him in the priesthood although he knew that they were utterly unfit for the office, having given themselves up to the licentious, idolatrous practices of their Canaanite neighbors, and were using the priesthood for their own gain, even selling the offerings for their own table. Eli had merely rebuked them mildly. The iniquity of the fathers is visited upon the children, but so also, is the iniquity of the children visited upon the fathers who neglect their duty to their children."

The Result of the Battle, I. Samuel 4:1-18. "The gods that smote the Egyptians with all manner of plagues in the wilderness," exclaimed the Philistines in fear when they learned that the ark was in the camp of Israel. "They were as much in their own history as in their divinity," remarks Matthew Henry. "In the wilderness" is thought by some scholars to refer to the enormous rendering of the Hebrew text; a slight alteration in the Hebrew would give us the presence of the ark. The ark was taken and Hophni and Phinehas, the two sons of Eli, were slain (2:12-17) were slain.

The Death of Eli, I. Samuel 4:12-18. When the advance runner came to Shiloh with news of the result of the battle, his rent clothes and the earth upon his head proclaimed his sorrowful news. Eli was sitting upon his customary seat by the wayside waiting for the ark. He trembled for the ark of God. Probably he had not approved of its being taken into battle, but with his customary weakness had yielded to the elders. When the poor blind old man (he was 98) heard the runner's report, he fell off his seat backwards and broke his neck in the fall.

Opinion Worth Heeding

Swing Music Harmful To Good Taste States Authority

Whenever one perceives sneers or hears derogatory remarks directed against young people gyrating to swing music, the usual response is to say, "Oh, well, let the kids have their fun. It's harmless." But we are not so sure of our position, now that the highest authority in the dance world has spoken. Swing is dance and degenerate, says Dr. D. N. Grant, president of the Dancing Teachers Bureau Association, at the annual convention of the organization in New York. There is no question here of morals; the harm is to good taste, grace and poise, and degeneration has to do with style.

Because of the great influence he wields, the dance masters' chief executive should be heard with respect.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

Good Weather Prophets

Work Of Beavers Will Indicate Wet Or Dry Years

There will be plenty of rain in 1939, according to the beavers. Beavers in streams near Stanford, Montana, have been observed building dams and repairing old ones, indicating their expectation of plenty of water.

As weather prophets, beavers are regarded highly. Each winter preceding a drought year, they were observed to have abandoned dams in the lesser streams.

New Type Ice-Breaker

A pumping machine in the shape of a railroad car, travelling on wheels, has been invented in Russia to cut ice. The machine is 6½ feet deep, with a strong jet of water. It is designed to facilitate shipping in the Arctic by aiding icebreakers, which are damaged when they try to smash through ice more than 3.22 feet thick.

Isn't it astonishing how many fellows go to the bad in a vain endeavor to prove themselves good fellows.

Duty Of A Newspaper

Is To Protest Against Wrongs States Vancouver Editor

W. L. MacTavish, editor of the Vancouver Daily Province, told the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association that it was the business of editors to see there was no shadow of truth in the radical's snarl at the "capitalist press."

MacTavish said that newspapers upheld capitalism out of the conviction that it was the most satisfactory economic system yet evolved in the present state of the world's progress and added:

"But let it never be said of us that we have lost the power of protest against the abuses of capitalism and have forgotten its weaknesses and cease to fight against its injustices and inequalities."

The struggle of the free press was fought largely for the freedom to speak out the wrongs and woes of the underprivileged, he said.

Journalism is a profession of protest. It is our calling to search out that which calls for protest in the conditions of our world and to voice that protest on behalf of those who are otherwise voiceless," he said.

Most of the world's progress was due to the successful outcome of that struggle, he said. "The great men of our calling have left us with a heritage in the form of a record of usefulness in the service of humanity."

"I think that perhaps the greatest danger confronting journalism is that in achieving a degree of material success we will lose the crusading spirit which is the hallmark of worthy journalism."

Mr. MacTavish told delegates they could find scope for crusading "in your own town, your own province and your own Dominion."

Newspapers in many countries of the world are not newspapers in the true sense of the word because they are under such rigid control, MacTavish said.

Chance For Inventors

One Of The Crying Needs Is A Self-Cleaning Sieve

The sieve is an implement of basic importance. No kitchen is without one. Its uses are manifold. And every time it is used it has been washed, and every time some one tries to clean an ordinary household sieve, that some one is pushed another step toward the madhouse. Is there any task more baffling, more maddening, than that of trying to clean a sieve? I think not, says John O'Sun in an article in the Baltimore Sun.

So, while applauding the ingenuity which has brought forth the head rest for bathtub readers, nevertheless I hold back the greater part of my enthusiasm for the person who invents a self-cleaning kitchen sieve.

Sound Not Transmitted

Impossible To Hear Northern Lights Opinion Of Scientist

If you see the northern lights some night and think you hear them singing, it may be only the blood rushing through your ears. The Smithsonian Institution said in publishing a report by Dr. A. S. E. Eve of McGill University that many reputable witnesses have reported "a hissing" or "hearing" of the lights. This is impossible, Dr. Eve added, because the lights occur 60 miles above the earth's surface where there is virtually no air to transmit sound waves. He said the observers might have heard the blood in their heads, the wind whistling through the rigging of their ships, or "the tinkling of the ice of their frozen breaths."

A British scientist says that there are probably only a few thousand gorillas left alive to-day in Africa.

England and Wales have 5,600,000 female workers, according to records.

"WE MISS YOU, DADDY"

The following editorial was printed in the Rockville, Conn., Journal about a year ago. Thereafter, to the editor's surprise, it was reprinted by most of the other papers of the state, and was used by highway safety officials, insurance companies, accident prevention organizations, motorists' publications and by others who are fighting the great war against the toll of automobile deaths. Here it is—and any motorist will surely think twice about taking chances after reading it:

"Tuesday morning there was a fatal accident on the Minterburn Hill, and when the medical examiner was going through the pockets of the dead man—a telegram was found. It was not very long, just the ordinary ten-word length, but it was a message that would make any father happy. It read: WE MISS YOU, DADDY. WHEN ARE YOU COMING HOME?"

"That was all. It was a message sent by one of the children of the man who was killed. He had received the message and was homeward bound. The clothes were minus money, but in his pocket he carried that message.

"Those who have little children, and those who were once little children, can think of the great blow to the child when the father did return home—dead."

"Daddy" will be missed by those children in the long years ahead. No longer will they have his support, his earnings, and more important, his companionship.

"If ever there was a reason for people driving more carefully on the road it is that they might get in an accident and deprive their own child or some other child of their 'Daddy'."

"More might be written, but just let us repeat those words: 'We miss you, Daddy. When are you coming home?'"—Ex.

MAKING "CELOPHANE"

Very few people indeed have been permitted to see the process of manufacturing "Cellophane." The conversion of viscose, an amber colored liquid, into the glistening sheets of transparent film, with which we are all familiar, has been a closely guarded secret. But now the veil is going to be partially lifted and the public, or those of it who visit the National Industries Building at the forthcoming Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, will see this modern chemical wonder made before their eyes. One of the most interesting displays at C-I-L's exhibit will be a miniature "Cellophane" casting machine, 40 inches long and 20 inches high, designed and built for this exhibition, which will make a continuous ribbon of "Cellophane" 2 1/2 inches wide. The viscose used in the operation will be shipped daily from C-I-L's "Cellophane" works at Shawinigan Falls, Quebec.

Had the Province of Alberta submitted a brief to the Rowell Commission, every citizen of the province would have had an opportunity of seeing it embodied in that commission's report, and just for the asking. But, instead, if any citizen desires to see the province's submission he is required to pay $2.25 for it. Now, how many people in this province are prepared to pay $2.25 for something that otherwise could have been their's at no cost?

WHY WORRY?

How many people we all know who spend their lives in worrying about things that never happen. Worrying is the most fruitless of all human occupations. Worrying about something which has already occurred cures nothing. Worrying about something which has not yet happened will not avert it, and nine times out of ten the things we are worrying about never come off.

Worrying has its roots in fear. Really courageous people do not give way to worry. Most worrying is due to too lively an imagination. Those who indulge in worrying are usually soft-hearted, sentimental folk who do not have a realistic outlook on life.

Most worries have an overly strong sense of personal responsibility for other people. Their high sense of duty leads them to fear that they have in some way been remiss in their obligations to others.

Most chronic worries are concerned about their personal health. Many have worried themselves into premature graves. Whatever is wrong with the bodily machinery is made worse by worrying about it.

There are very few things which can happen to anyone that are worth worrying about. To advise people to stop worrying is not to advise them to take no precautions against the future. Careful, foresighted people are seldom worriers. They face the present with a stout heart and the future with the calm assurance that all the world expects of anyone is to do the best he can. And they let the dead past bury its dead.—Ex.

"RADIO CONFUSION DE CANADA"

(By "Yardmaster," in Bassano, Alberta, Recorder)

Last Sunday our chief turned on his radio and got three stations on the same wavelength; one was a minister in Moose Jaw, preaching a sermon; one was Bismark broadcasting a talk on poultry, and the third was from Regina on the condition of the roads. This is what he told me he heard:

"Our text today tells us that baby chickens should devour one mile south of Grand Coulee and listen to the words of the prophet, saying use great care in the selection of your eggs and you will run into a few dirty birds between there and Pense."

We find in Genesis that the roads are muddy just west of the hen house and care must be taken to clean them daily and you must see that there is clean straw in the nest if you expect to save your soul. After you leave Pense go west one mile and then the three Wise Men went to Jerusalem where I would advise you to purchase at least 500 eggs on account of a bad detour where the baby chicks were troubled with the pip and bond issue being talked on these roads. Keep the feet clean and dry, live a life of righteousness and turn south at the school house. The roads are reported to be very slippery around Jerusalem where Baalam went through on his ass. Much care must be used in commanding the sun to stand still, as there is a washout in the line just north of Belle Plain and the road to salvation is undergoing repairs, making it necessary to keep the temperature in the brooder at least 76 degrees.

After leaving Belle Plain, unless you do these things, the wrath of God will cause all the pin feathers to drop out and detour one mile south of the cemetery. Many are called but few have any luck unless the gravel road on the Moose Jaw hill is well mixed with bran. Out of 302 eggs one should get good roads to Mortlach and He commanded Noah to build the ark one mile west of Caron. It rained 40 days and 40 nights and caused a five mile detour just west of the brooder house, but care must be taken or the cocks will lose their combs, and remember, friends, where the Lord said unto Moses you must watch carefully the Children of Israel have a tendency to get lousy on their way to the promised land and whitewash should be used on No. 1 highway where the gravel will reach an average weight of six or seven pounds before it is too late and the trumpet of Gabriel sounds, etc., etc.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Aug. 22.—The Social Credit party having duly celebrated "Democracy Day"—the third anniversary of the Alberta provincial election in which 54 per cent of the total vote gave Aberhart's group 55 per cent of the legislature seats—the province of Alberta this week was getting ready to start the fourth year of Social Credit administration.

The "Democracy Day" meetings were held in various parts of the province without sign of a third even resembling the 20,000 which Aberhart claimed attended a previous anniversary celebration in Calgary. Nor did the speakers at Monday talk-fests indicate whether the province should anticipate the return of democracy, or mourn for its passing. The speeches generally were the same texts as have been used since early in 1935, there being no accomplishments to discuss.

The government's financial statement for the fiscal year's first quarter, which ended on 30 June, made public last week. It showed heavy increase in levies taken from taxpayers in comparison with the corresponding period for last year; a total of $7,125,622 was collected by the government during the three months, an increase of $468,491. Total expenditures for that period increased $217,041 to a total of $5,553,064.

Those figures are on the basis of the most optimistic version possible, inasmuch as all governments like to collect all the accounts they can and not rush too much about paying off obligations, when it is time to show a report. Those expenditures do not include anything over three quarters of a million dollars which is being withheld in reduced interest payments on the provincial debt, or $314,000 which was cut from relief grants in comparison with last year.

Dominion government grants for direct relief in drought areas were increased by almost $245,000.

When these items are considered, said the observers here, it is obvious that, despite the reduced payments and grants, Alberta's government is costing steadily more, although an amount close to $25,000,000 has been defaulted in the last three years and is not taken into account in expenditures.

Reduction of $267,727 in the provincial debt, to a total of $156,747,889 was announced for the three months. Most of the decrease was accounted for in savings certificates, of which about $7,000,000 are still outstanding. The total figure on the provincial debt does not include the $7,000,000 interest defaulted, but does count the unpaid and overdue maturities of principal.

The attack by Premier Mitchell Hepburn, of Ontario, on the Rowell Commission, gave Premier Aberhart an opportunity to state his position in an attack against the Dominion government and "the bankers," although it was later shown that Hepburn was miles astray in his complaint against the federal government—the complaint which led to his repudiating the commission. He thought that the Dominion's new gift tax act meant increased taxes by Ottawa, whereas there was no such provision in it.

Aberhart jumped to the conclusion that the Rowell Commission had collapsed, and he said so. It was remarked that inasmuch as Alberta is publishing its own brief which was to have been presented to the commission, the province must expect some results from the commission, and that if it expected results the government was duty-bound to present Alberta's case to the commission.

Publication of that brief at a price of $2.25 per copy, still was being awaited as this week opened. It was long overdue, and it was declared in the legislative buildings, though not by cabinet members, that the proponents of the government were rewriting important sections of it in order to make it fit in better with Social Credit party claims. The facts and figures as set out by the United States experts who were hired by the government for the job, were not just to the liking of the government. It was declared, and the cabinet members and Social Credit "experts" have taken a hand at changing it to fit their economic principles.

Back in Edmonton after his trip to Salt Lake City and Los Angeles, Provincial Treasurer Solon Low talked with the premier for a while and then asked newspapers to quote him as declaring that he had intended to try to replace Aberhart as premier. "All poppycock—the products of a twisted mind," he said.

It became known that Mr. Low's hopes of arranging a refunding scheme on his own initiative were dashed on his trip south. He is expected now to remain in the background on the new quiet insurgency against the present government. In the meantime, Aberhart denies that he planned any changes in the cabinet.

Dismissal of Magistrate A. H. Gibson, of Edmonton, was a highlight of the week around the capital. The premier, who is also attorney-general, refused to state the reasons for firing the magistrate. Mr. Gibson refused to present his own case to the public at once. It is declared, however, that he had a clash with the government a few months ago over the Fowell and Urwin cases—that the government tried to dictate to him the procedure to be followed, and that he refused to take orders as to how he should conduct the case or what decision he should render at the preliminary hearing.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

The inquest into the death of August Schlager, who passed away in the local hospital from injuries sustained in the Bellevue mine on August 15th, returned a verdict that he came to his death in the Bellevue hospital at 1 a.m. on August 16th, resulting from an accidental fall of rock sliding from a cross-pitch in the Bellevue mine of the West Canadian Collieries Ltd. on August 15th. No blame was attached to anyone. The jury recommended that stretchers be kept in all districts along with ambulance equipment. Mr. Schlager's remains were laid to rest on Tuesday in the Protestant cemetery, following service at the United church conducted by Rev. John Wood, of Hillcrest. Funeral was largely attended.

The remains of the late John Bovio, who passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joe Krickosky, at Blairmore, were laid to rest in the local Protestant cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The funeral was one of the largest seen here in recent years. The procession was headed by the Bellevue band, of which deceased was at one time a member. Mr. Bovio had been a great sufferer for about a year. He was well known and highly respected in the Crows' Nest Pass. He was an active member of the Miners' Union, also the Bellevue school board and the Bellevue Horticultural Society. He is survived by his wife and two daughters. His only son predeceased him about eleven years ago, having lost his life while swimming at Lee Lake. People of the district extend the bereaved family sincere sympathy.

Luther Goodwin, who attended summer school at the Seattle University, returned home this week.

Fred Padgett and Misses Hilda and Lily returned home Saturday from a vacation spent at points in B.C. and Washington.

Miss Ruby Cousins is spending a vacation at Calgary and other Alberta points.

The Saturday evening dance in the arena, sponsored by the hockey and skating clubs, was very well attended. These dances are becoming more and more popular.

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyle were week-end visitors to the Logan Pass highway with Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lamey, of Blairmore.

Gus Mattson and family, who spent a few days at High River visiting his aunt, Mrs. Bartorio, has returned home.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Snyder are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son at St. Vincent's hospital, Pincher Creek, on Friday last, August 19.

Miss McCarten has returned to Calgary, after a visit of several days here with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Snyder.

Mrs. John McQuarrie, of Coleman, is paying an extended visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dwyer.

Miss Winnifred Gray, of Calgary, is guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smyth.

An epidemic of stomach flu is reported around here.

Mrs. Earl Matthews and her two children spent the week end with relatives in Claresholm. Miss Harriet Schumacher returned with her for a few weeks' visit here.

Miss Marion Morrison has returned from a three weeks' camping holiday trip with the Regals in the Gap. She reports having had a splendid time.

On Thursday evening last a sixteen thousand bushel crop of wheat was destroyed by hail on the Terrill ranch, eight miles north of Lundbreck. Some damage was done to other adjacent farms. The storm lifted and struck again in the Porcupine Hills district, leaving considerable damage in its wake.

Old Maid: "What kind of a husband have you got?"

Newlywed: "Oh, he'll wash up when requested, and shut up when ordered."

Figures show that the Dominion of Canada debt runs into the billions. Well, there's one good reason why we should have Mr. Aberhart in full-control. With about 19 gallons of ink and 350 modern fountain pens he could wipe that off. Just look how easy he has written off debts in and for Alberta. That's why the first fountain pen manufacturing plant to be established in Alberta should be subsidized.

Blairmore's newly-oiled main street was opened up to traffic on Friday evening, and on Saturday looked and acted nicely. But a strict curb has to be put on individuals who have the habit of strewing sweepings, waste paper, paper boxes, etc., to the winds to be scattered all over town. On Sunday morning there was a real storm of scrap paper, travelling in all directions. It's source of origin should easily be determined.

One of the most extensive of training courses in the history of commercial aviation is that through which pilots of Trans-Canada Air Lines are working their way at Winnipeg headquarters and on cross-country night and day runs to the Pacific coast. They joined the company as first-class pilots, but are now passing rig tests as navigators, wireless operators, and even studying numerous phases of ground engineering.

A father, asked to describe his ten sons, did so in the following way: My first was a politician, the second was a half-wit also; my third was a civil servant, the fourth did no work either; my fifth is an actor, and the sixth is always broke, too; my seventh was a company promoter, and the eighth is in the same prison; my ninth is an intellectual, and the tenth is peculiar as well.

Friends of the Family

Look at the packages on your pantry and bathroom shelves, and see what a multitude of brand names you recognize. Some of them have been familiar for years. You may have made the acquaintance of others only a few weeks ago. But even these are not suspected strangers. You have bought them confidently because they were advertised. And it is the same with your sheets and towels, your shoes and clothes, your electric appliances, the car in your garage—nearly everything you use.

Advertised products have a standing that commands respect. They are not nameless, but vouched for by responsible firms. The fact that they are advertised is in itself an indication that their standards of quality are strictly maintained, that they represent honest value.

As science and discovery go on, newly developed products are constantly being advertised—ready to help you save money and improve your standard of living. Every advertisement of such a product you read in your newspaper is a letter of introduction to a new and possibly useful friend.

It will pay you to read the advertisements in this paper. By so doing you will meet many choice products—worthy to become friends of the family.

NEED FOR PROTECTION SHOWN
BY EXPERIENCES IN TEXAS

Only by orderly development of the Turner Valley oil fields would it have been possible to save to prairie consumers the five and a half million dollars which will be saved this year. There is a natural tendency to minimize the marketing problems which most Alberta producers. Marketing problems, it is often said, solve themselves.

Experience has shown the error of those who hold this comforting view. They are unaware, perhaps, of the confusion which once reigned in the oil fields of East Texas. In the process of developing its market, the price of crude oil in that field went down as low as 10 cents a barrel. When protection was put into effect, martial law had to be invoked to enforce it.

Once the benefits of regulation were realized, the views changed. It has been fortunate for Alberta and the west that the industry here has avoided disastrous experiences which caused such trouble in Texas. [14]

BUSINESS ETIQUETTE

Some of the higher ups in government circles could learn something from this suggested piece of business etiquette: You never "fire" an employee; you always part with regret, personal good wishes, willingness to give as good a recommendation as possible, and without brusqueness, sour words or the breaking of morale. If you must discharge someone, you do not do so on the basis of personal failure, but of business expediency.

HOW SANDY SANK THE SINK

I had twelve bottles of whiskey which the wife said I must pour down the sink—or else.

So I went down to the cellar and poured the first bottle down the sink, all but a small glassful which I drank. Then I poured the second bottle down the sink, except a glassful which I drank. Then I took the third bottle which I poured down the sink, except a couple of glasses which I sank.

Next I took the fourth glass and bottled it down the sink, except a bottleful which I drank.

Then I took the seventh sink and drank it, except for the bottleful which I sank.

Next I poured the twelfth bottle down the glass, except the bottle which I bottled, which I sank in the sink, except a cellarful which I tried to sell, but had to drink instead.

Then holding the house steady with one hand, with the other I fended off the other forty-three houses in the street as they came swimming up the cellar steps, except the cellar which I sank, as I watched the corks pop the houses of the bottles and pour the sinks down the whiskey, except a glassful which I drank.

AN ADVERTISEMENT

WILL SELL IT

When a motor car dealer in Helena, Montana, recently acquired a long-vacant building adjoining his garage to expand his business, he was amazed to find 17 brand new 1907 Mitchell automobiles stored therein.

It developed that the Mitchell dealer died in 1907, and in settling his estate the automobiles, then worth $30,000, were overlooked.

An advertisement in a Helena newspaper, offering the ancient vehicles for sale, brought such an enthusiastic response that the garage man boosted the price from $25 to $125 each and disposed of the entire lot.

You may not have brand new 1907 automobiles about the place, but it is probably no exaggeration to say that every home and business place in Blairmore has some valuable, but no longer used article about the premises that could speedily be turned into cash by a little ad placed in The Enterprise. Anything that is still usable can be sold if advertised in the columns of this paper. You will be amazed at the number of prospects the expenditure of fifty cents or a dollar will dig up.

Little Freddie: "If you please, mother wants a tape measure!"

Shopkeeper: "How long does she want it?"

Freddie: "Er—I think she wants to keep it."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
ACTION SNAPS

What action! Must have taken a fast shutter to stop it! Well, no—don't tell anybody, but it was snapped at 1/25 second, approximately box-camera shutter speed. The sblite simply held still for a moment.

PRETTY soon the weather will be opening up, schools will start on their Spring athletic programs, small boys will be knocking battered baseballs around on vacant lots — and your youngsters, very likely, will be among them.

These amateur athletes are excellent material for your camera, whether it is a box camera such as most of us have, or one of the new high-speed miniatures.

Of course, with a box camera, you cannot always expect to "stop" rapid action. That is the field of the cameras with high-speed lenses and shutters. But there's no reason why you can't picture action poses — some of them so realistic that people who see them would vow the pictures were high-speed "stop-action" snaps.

Enterprise printing during the past week went to all points between Fernie and Cowley.

Autoist: "Have you any of that gasoline that stops knocking?"

Frank Pozzi: "Yes, sir."

Autoist: "Then, give my wife two glasses."

Word was received last week end of the birth of a son to Constable and Mrs. H. M. Dixon at Saskatoon on August 19th. Constable Dixon was formerly connected with the R.C.M.P. detachment here, while Mrs. Dixon was formerly Miss Nellie Royle, of Blairmore. Congratulations!

Mr. Robert McGrath, 92 years of age, of Tranconas, Manitoba, is visiting his son, Bill McGrath, at Coleman, for an indefinite period. Mr. McGrath, despite his age, is still hale and hearty, and likes nothing better than to get out in the garden in the early morning and hoe Bill's potato patch.—Coleman Journal.

On Monday evening a crowd of forty-odd persons, representing Coleman, Blairmore, Frank and Bellevue, bid farewell to Mr. McLean, who has resigned the principalship of the Bellevue school to take the appointment of school inspector in the northern part of the province. A wire is said to have been sent to Mr. Aberhart that night to the effect that the forty had gathered to hear his broadcast. We doubt if ten per cent of the gathering were so interested.

Word has been received from Fillmore, California, of the death of Fred H. Livingstone, son of Mrs. Mark Drumm, of Fillmore, who passed away Saturday, August 13th, after a long illness. Fred was a printer by trade, and for a number of years worked in the office of The Coleman Miner at Coleman. He left Alberta for the south some fifteen or twenty years ago. He was about forty-five years of age and single. He is survived by his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Drumm, and an uncle, Stuart Chapman, residing at Bremerton, Washington. Private funeral services were held on Monday, August 15th, followed by cremation. About 30 years ago, Fred worked in the office of The Frank Paper at Frank.

Any athlete, proud of his muscles and uniform, should be glad to "hold it" a moment for you. And small boys on neighborhood baseball diamonds cheer when they see a camera coming. They'll hold any pose you want them to.

The low viewpoint is best for action pictures, with the camera tilted slightly upward so that the sky forms the picture background.

Try it, with a young pitcher "winding up" or at the end of his delivery. He can hold his position and expression long enough for you to snap the picture—and the effect is one of genuine rapid action.

"Action" snaps of this sort not only turn out to be good pictures, but also provide plenty of fun. Try some, and see how easily the camera (and your friends) can be fooled.

154 John van Guilder

People couldn't do without newspapers. So many want to know what it was they heard over the radio.

Mrs. Glanghan: "Was your old man in comfortable circumstances when he died?"

Mrs. Macpherson: "No, 'e was 'alf-way under a train."

An audience of about 100 gathered at Pincher Creek on Monday evening—Democracy Day—to hear Aberhart and others speak. A press report says: "The hour prior to the broadcast was much enjoyed."

Fred Link, of the Mountain Mill district, lost a valuable horse through encephalomyelitis last week. The animal was one of a team working in the field, when it suddenly dropped, and was dead before it could be released from the harness. Mr. Link reports a young thoroughbred as also being effected, but may pull through.

Two little kids in a Blairmore home were asked to write the names of five great men. One wrote Mackenzie King, P.M.; J. Woodsworth; Bob Edwards; William Aberhart, N.S.T.M.; B.A. and President Roosevelt. The boy was unable to explain the appendage "N.S.T.M." but his mother laughed and said "I get it. It's 'no statement' to make'."

A man charged with murder bribed a friend on the jury to hold out for a verdict of manslaughter. The jury were out for a long time. At last they brought in a verdict of manslaughter. The prisoner rushed up to his friend and said, "I'm much obliged to you. Was it hard work?" "Very," said the jurymen. "The other eleven wanted to acquit you."

See The Enterprise windows for announcements of public functions. Today they include: a dance at Lundbreck hall on the night of Labor Day, a dance in the Satoris hall on October 3rd, under auspices of the Clarks committee; a dance at Crow's Nest Lake pavilion on Tuesday night next, Labor Day sports at the Elk Valley hall park, Natal; dance in the Satoris hall on September 5th; the big Bellevue-Flower Show, children's sports and dance on Labor Day, and the Elks' carnival at Coleman on September 3 and 5. There is nothing like the printed announcement.

The congregation of a Free Methodist church at Branford have declared disapproval of organs, musical instruments of any kind, or neckties within the precincts of the church. Bandy legs are approved.

Misses Jennie Cameron and Bertha Oliver, after visiting with relatives and friends here for the past seven weeks, left by Monday's train for Truro, where on Monday next they resume their duties as teachers. While here they enjoyed many outings, which included a trip out the Logan Pass and another to the Pacific coast.

The town's street oiling programme has this week been extended, crossing the C.P.R. at Seventh Avenue, as well as south from Main street to the extreme end of Ninth Avenue and north on Eighth Avenue to the hospital. Also a section of Dearborn Street west of Eighth Avenue to near the Carmichael residence has been treated.

Welcoming the decision of the United Mine Workers District 26 convention at Truro, N.S., to affiliate with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation for political action, the C.C.F. National Council said in a statement this was "a recognition by the trade union movement of the fact the C.C.F. is the party of the workers and farmers of Canada."

The death occurred in the Calgary General hospital on Friday evening of Miss Katherine Madill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Madill, of Foremost, and until recently teacher there. Besides her parents, deceased is survived by three brothers: Dr. J. S. Madill, of Raymond; H. A. Madill and W. R. Madill, of Foremost. The remains were laid to rest at Foremost on Monday afternoon.

A Hillcrest citizen arrived home last week from an extended visit to Scotland. Before leaving the Isle of the Heather, he wrote quite a number of letters to relatives and friends in Canada and the United States, but posted them, in a badly crumpled condition, after landing on this side, feeling that by so doing he was saving money. Now he hates to explain, finding out that he has saved nothing.

The Coleman Elks' annual carnival will be staged in the Coleman Crystal Rink on Saturday and Monday, September 3rd and 5th. A feature of the carnival will be the election of a carnival queen from the following candidates: Misses Winnifred Mitchell, Albin Michalsky, Freda Antropus, Dorothy Cornes, Elsie Carmello and Laura Antel, all of Coleman; Nancy Siming, of Bellevue, and Joan Askew, of Natal.

"And how is your brother getting along, Sandy? You know, the one who became a doctor?"

"D'you ken, he's so swell off now he kin even afford to tell some o' 'is patients there's nothing wrang wi' em."

The Sunday school lesson was about the wolf and the lamb. When the teacher had finished, she said: "So you see, dears, if the lamb had been really good, he would not have been eaten by the wolf."

"But," said one little girl, "he'd have been eaten by us, wouldn't he?"

Old Jack McTavish told a friend he was running for an undertaker, as his wife was seriously ill.

"But," remonstrated the friend, "it's not an undertaker you want, it's a doctor."

"No, no," was the reply, "I canna afford to deal wi' middlemen."

A young bride entered the drug store a few days ago and asked, timidly: "That baby tonic you advertise, does it really make babies bigger and stronger?"

Druggist: "We sell lots of it, and we've never had a complaint."

Bride: "Well, I'll take a bottle." Then, completing the purchase and leaving the store, she returned in about ten minutes and cornered the druggist again: "I forgot to ask who takes it, me or my husband?"

The population of British Columbia is now estimated at 770,000.

"I can't quite diagnose your case. I think it must be drink."

"All right, doctor, I'll come back when you're sober."

Diner: "Waiter, I'm sure there's a caterpillar in this cabbage."

Waiter: "Pardon me, sir, that's the sausage you ordered."

Flossie: "You'll never catch me going out to dinner with an editor again."

Girl Friend: "Why, was he broke?"

Flossie: "I don't know whether he was broke or not, but he put a blue pencil through about half my order."

"Go to my father," the maiden said to a spruce young man that had asked her to wed. And she knew that he knew that her father was dead, and he knew that she knew that a bad life he had led, and she knew that he knew what she meant when she said: "Go to my father!"

The Grasshopper Menace

Coming from a man of his knowledge and practical experience of agricultural practices and pursuits the recent published statement of Hon. W. R. Motherwell in Regina to the general effect that man can do comparatively little to cope with grasshopper infestations and that in this respect Nature must be allowed to deal with such insect visitations in her own way and in her own good time must have caused some disquietude among farmers of the prairie provinces.

Among other things, the viewpoint expressed by the former Federal Minister of Agriculture, is destined to raise the question in the minds of a good many whether the large sums which have been spent in recent years in poison bait campaigns has been money wasted, and in the second place is likely to discourage further efforts to control the pests in future years.

On the question of the degree of efficacy of control measures there are admittedly differences of opinion, not only among the farmers themselves but between experts and technicians who advise on such matters.

There is plenty of evidence, scientific and practical, however, that in the past few years millions of grasshoppers have been killed as the result of application of control measures, both cultural and by the use of poison bait, and particularly where measures have been taken at the precisely appropriate time and conducted in strict accordance with the recommendations of the authorities. It is only reasonable to assume, no matter how severe the infestation of the ensuing crop and the extent of the damage that was done to it, that the loss would have been greater had these measures not been taken, for dead grasshoppers cannot reproduce.

Losses Are Severe

The problem may not appear so momentous just now to the people of Alberta and Manitoba as it does to thousands of farmers in a large area of Saskatchewan who have recently seen fine crops partially, and in some cases almost entirely, ruined by an influx of great hordes of ravenous grasshoppers on the eve of harvest.

It is not necessary to dwell on the anguish caused to farmers who had a good crop almost within their grasp after years of impoverishment, by these overnight invasions of millions of insect pests, but it might not be amiss to point out that farmers in Manitoba and Alberta have had sufficient experience with grasshoppers within the past decade, to realize that perils lurk for them, as well as for their Saskatchewan colleagues, next year if Saskatchewan is to be a nursery for a 1939 crop of "hoppers, perhaps of even greater magnitude.

The sudden blow dealt to a large number of Saskatchewan farmers this fall may be repeated next year and may be the lot of farmers in either or both of the sister prairie provinces in the autumn or late summer of 1939. If nothing can be done by human agency to mitigate or prevent it.

Early this spring a provincial government map was published demonstrating that severe infestation from Saskatchewan bred "hoppers" was to be expected in that province in only two or three relatively small areas, based on an egg count conducted by agricultural authorities. If their diagnosis was correct the invasion of Saskatchewan fields this fall must have had its origin outside the province and this appears to be borne out by evidence of observations on both sides of the international boundary. In other words, there is some reason to believe that some of the loss, perhaps the major part of it, to Saskatchewan farmers occasioned by grasshoppers this fall had its origin in some of the neighboring States.

An International Problem

If grasshoppers can travel the considerable distances in the comparatively short time indicated by this evidence the problem is not confined to the district or the province immediately infested but becomes one of extra-provincial and international scope, and if anything can be done by human agency to curtail the peril it can only be effectively done by joint action of the authorities of all the people within the danger zone irrespective of political boundary lines.

The situation at least presses the advisability of a round table conference between the authorities, technical experts and practical farmer-leaders of the Canadian provinces and American States, subject to this danger with the object of devising control measures on as wide a scale as may be necessary, if it should be decided that control measures can produce results within the range of economic feasibility.

If such a conference agrees that effective control measures can be taken, a co-ordinated educational program should be mapped out and undertaken among the farmers of the entire territory affected and consideration should also be given to the advisability of passing legislation to make the approved measures effective in all the states and provinces subject to infestation.

Australian Government Determined To Prove Mammal Is Real

The Australian Commonwealth postal department will issue a new series of nine-penny stamps Sept. 1. They will bear a reproduction of a platypus, and their color will be amber gray.

Radio Lights Aid Pilots When Ground Is Obscured

Radio lights, a new method of seeing through mists of the thickest fog or clouds, were announced at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

The lights are planned to enable a pilot to "see" the runway of a field miles away, and to land on that strip no matter how completely the ground is obscured. They are under development for aeronautics by R. H. George and H. J. Hein, of the engineering experiment station.

Will Make Survey

Domination Bureau of Statistics Wants Figures On Living Expenses

The first Dominion-wide survey of nutrition and family living expenditures will begin shortly. The survey, instituted by Hon. W. D. Bizer, minister of trade and commerce, will be carried out by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

The branch hopes to obtain records of the manner in which family income is spent in urban areas, including a high proportion of the country's wage-earning population. A statement issued under Mr. Bizer's authority said:

"Besides furnishing a basis of comparing living standards in Canada with those in many other countries for which surveys recently have been made, these records will provide invaluable information concerning conditions of nutrition.

"They will also make it possible to measure changes in living costs much more accurately and to estimate differences in family budgets according to regional areas. Such data form a necessary basis for adjustments in wage scales of industrial workers.

"The survey is to be made in September and October and because of the difficulties in obtaining such data on a comprehensive scale, only a sample of wage-earning families will be canvassed.

"Those who contribute careful expense accounts would contribute materially to the success of the survey and at the same time perform a service to their community by indicating to the Dominion bureau of statistics, Ottawa, their willingness to co-operate.

"The cities to be included in the survey are Charlottetown, Halifax, Saint John, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, London, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver. These centres have been chosen after examining the most recent census records carefully to assure a representative selection."

China Outbuys Japan

Has Been Heaviest Purchaser Of War Materials In Canada

Spokesmen for the Department of External Affairs, in close touch with the Sino-Japanese war, described as "a cock and bull story" report from China that Japan intended making large purchases of munitions in Canada.

"Canadian manufacturers have no facilities for the immediate production of munitions on a large scale," it was stated. "And it is doubted whether Japan has any surplus gold or credits to be spent on foreign purchases."

To date no country has restricted the shipment of arms to either China or Japan and Canada will not likely do so until one of the major powers declares an embargo.

Since the war started, China has been the heaviest purchaser of war materials in Canada. The Chinese Government has bought a number of planes here for training purposes, while Japan has purchased only one plane ordered before the war.

There have been shipments of lead, zinc, copper and nickel to both countries, but the bulk of the shipments have gone to China.

His First Assignment

Reporter Took No Chances On Truth Of His Story

The young reporter who had just joined the staff of the local paper received an awful warning on the dangers and appalling consequences of making ill-founded statements in print. With this fresh in his mind he set off on his first job to report the sale of work which was being held in a nearby village.

Pale but triumphant he returned, and handed his first copy to the editor. "The bazaar," it read, "was opened (so it is said) by Mrs. Brown, alleged to be the wife of Councillor Brown, commonly supposed to be a more or less highly-esteemed tradesman of this town. She was dressed in what some would describe as fashionable attire, and was supported on the platform by the so-called vicar and other reputed ladies and gentlemen."

Most People Are Blind

Have Only Vaguest Idea Of What Things Look Like

Eric Newton, in The London Listener, says the scientist is given the credit for being a specialist in truth, but how often is the artist given the credit for being a specialist in beauty? Not often, I'm afraid—not the modern artist, at any rate. We all feel quite confident of two things. We think we know what things look like; and we think we know what is beautiful and what is ugly when we see it.

In actual fact most of us have only the vaguest idea of what things look like, and our ideas of beauty are entirely dependent on what is presented to us by artists and how it is presented. Let us take the question of truth to appearances first. When I said most of us don't know what things look like, I meant what I said quite literally.

Of course we can recognise our friends' faces, and we can even tell whether they are pleased or angry from the slightest alteration in the set of their features. We can all use our eyes when there is any advantage to be gained from doing so. A cook knows exactly the color of toast when it is properly toasted. A woman can remember a precise shade of blue if she has to buy a piece of ribbon to match her dress. But when there is no advantage to be gained from it, most of us are blind.

We do know the color of the shadow of a cloud on a beautiful hillside? Of the difference in tone between the red of a tiled roof and the red of a sunset? No, we don't know any of these things until the artist shows them to us. It was Turner who taught us how to look at sunsets. Constable who showed us the sparkle of a tree's foliage. Van Gogh discovered the rich yellow of corn in sunlight. Cezanne discovered the way one plane interlocks with another.

Until they taught us how to look at nature we simply didn't know what certain aspects of nature were like. So let us not be too sure of ourselves when we tell an artist that he is untrue to nature.

Ships Of The Future

Streamlined And Air-Conditioned Will Have Glass-Enclosed Decks

A French authority recently stated that the threat of trans-ocean air travel makes it necessary to tackle shipbuilding from a new angle. The ship can never compete with the airplane in speed, but it can offer its passengers comfort, safety, cuisine, freedom, amusement and rest to a greater degree. These things must, therefore, be exploited to the full, states W. J. Bassett-Lawke, in the P.L.A. Monthly.

Streamlining is an essential part of the design of the ship of the future. The decks are glass-enclosed to decrease wind resistance as well as to protect passengers from the breath of the sea. Indeed, it is possible that "only" conditioned air will be used throughout the ship except in the outside cabins. Funnels are the greatest difficulty in preventing perfect streamlining, and in this ship the uptakes are run into horizontal tunnels, and with parallel or adjoining tunnels, help to ventilate the entire ship.

A kind of hardwood timber, found only in North Queensland, Australia, will burn as well when it's wet as when it's dry. In fact, when a wet stick is ignited, the water is expelled as steam from the stick's end.

The Business Outlook

Usual Forces Which Make For Improvement Are At Hand

There is a good dose of poison for pessimists in the current business outlook, states Canadian business. Most of the usual forces making for improvement in business are at hand. An invigorating expansion in consumer buying can be expected. Wants deferred from the last depression have yet to be satisfied. Inventories have been cut below normal. There is no over-expansion. Commodity prices are trending upwards. The first well distributed normal wheat crop since 1932 is expected.

Construction is still a powerful latent factor in the business picture and is now being given a helping hand by the Government. Amusement and aircraft orders are becoming facts. New investment possibilities should soon be available. Our important southern neighbor is experiencing a sharp turn for the better. In other words, a normal revival seems in process and may well be stimulated by special influences.

Picturesque Branding

Private Or Caste Marks Used On Island Of Ceylon

The Island of Ceylon does a considerable trade in hides and skins, but almost all the cattle and buffalo skins are damaged by excessive branding. The kinds of branding in vogue are private or caste marks, and the marks made by Vederals (Ceylonese cattle physicians) for the prevention or cure of disease. Oftentimes the Vederals are artists at their work and brand elaborate designs on the various parts of the body according to the disease from which the animal is believed to be suffering. In addition to all those marks, it is also a common practice to brand cattle with a certain design when they are castrated. Many hides are rendered completely useless, as extensively are they branded. Up to 1936, there was still another brand in use—the communal mark—but it was abolished by law in that year. At present there is no restriction to private branding.

CANADA MUST DEVELOP HER OWN DEFENCE FORCES

Ottawa.—Principal reaction in Ottawa to President Roosevelt's Kingston speech assuring Canadians the United States would not stand idly by and see Canada under the domination of another power, was one of appreciation, coupled with the feeling Canada should nevertheless continue development of its own defence forces.

Even if the United States came to Canada's assistance in repelling an invasion of this country, according to those interested in national defence, Canadians would be a matter of duty be required to "do their own bit."

Mr. King spoke of the close ties binding Canada and the United States, their common frontier of 4,000 miles, unnamed.

"Like him," (Mr. Roosevelt) Mr. King said, "I have sought whenever and wherever the opportunity has presented itself, to further and cement the ties of international friendship and goodwill, not alone between the English-speaking countries of the world but between all countries."

Officials in Ottawa were not content, since the Roosevelt pronouncement was a matter of policy and not of administration. Officials of others closely associated with militia activities, however, stressed the care with which Mr. Roosevelt clothed his sentiment. It indicated the United States would not tolerate domination of Canada by another foreign nation.

Domination of Canada, it was pointed out, could come only after a conflict in which Canada had been defeated. In that case the United States would not permit a victorious enemy to hold this country as one of the spoils of war. That meaning was extracted from the president's speech as the primary one. Another was that, to avert such a condition, the United States would assist Canada at the outset against Canada to repel an invader. The president's utterance, it was stated, was capable of both interpretations and might conceivably embrace both.

Jap Bombers Busy

Casualties And Property Damage Heavy In City Of Chongsha

Shanghai.—Japanese forces ordered to take Chongsha, capital of Hunan province, have been down many miles from their objective.

The invaders' naval air force, however, raved over the heads of the straggling Japanese infantrymen and bombed the city, which lies about 200 miles southwest of Kiangling and about the same distance south and slightly west of Hankow.

Despatches from Hankow said the Chongsha raid was the worst the city had yet experienced, with several hundred victims severely taxing available medical facilities. The city's railroad area received the heaviest damage, the bombs demolishing several schools there.

In Front Trenches

Battalion Commander In Daughter Of Rich Chinese Merchant

Hankow.—Central (Chinese) News Agency told of the 20-year-old beautiful daughter of a rich Kwangsi merchant who is fighting actively on the northern front "at the head of 600 Kwangsi Amazons."

The young woman, according to the account, is Miss Mai Tienhua, daughter of Mai Wei-Shen.

"She first joined as a private," the report said, "but during the defence of Haichow became a captain. In the fighting at Tangcheng, a town east of Hankow, Miss Mai fought gallantly and for bravery she was promoted to battalion commander. She has participated in all engagements along the eastern section of the Lungshai line."

German Secret Police Put Readers' Digest On Forbidden List

Berlin.—The secret police have banned the Readers' Digest indefinitely from Germany and all foreign translations and editions of the former Australian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's book, Drumbeat Across the Atlantic (My Austria), the official gazette said. No reason for the banning of the Readers' Digest could be learned, but it was presumed considered by the National Socialists as anti-German in the August issue of the magazine were the cause.

Lethbridge Names New Airport After Celebrated Canadian Pilot

Lethbridge, Alta.—Lethbridge's new municipal airport, the largest yet constructed in Canada, will be named Kenyon field during official opening ceremonies here September 14.

The name will honor Air Commodore Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, well-known Canadian flier, now a member of the staff of Trans-Canada Airlines. He landed the first air mail in Lethbridge in 1929.

The official opening will be marked by a gala air meet here at which leading figures in Canadian and United States aviation will attend. Hollick-Kenyon has already signified his intention to attend.

The flier is internationally known for his flights over the South Pole with Lincoln Ellsworth and the Arctic in search of the lost Russian fliers.

Ottawa.—Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, will head Canada's delegation to the League of Nations assembly which opens in Geneva Sept. 12, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced.

Other delegates will be Hume Wrong, permanent representative at Geneva; Joseph T. Thorson, M.P. for Selkirk; Paul Martin, M.P. for Essex East, and Mrs. Nellie McClung of Victoria. J. Scott Macdonald, first secretary of the department of external affairs, will be technical adviser to the delegation.

State Secretary Rinfret said he will leave Ottawa Aug. 27, on an official mission to Budapest, Hungary. He did not reveal the purpose of his mission. Mr. Rinfret also will inspect the Canadian archives in Paris and later go to Rome.

Should Be Cut Quickly

Grain Too Badly Rusted For Threshing Makes Good Feed

Saskatoon.—Recommendation that crops too badly rusted for threshing be cut immediately for feed was made by Professor J. W. G. MacEwan of the University of Saskatchewan animal husbandry department.

The livestock man said he had received numerous requests respecting the value of rusted grain in livestock feeding. Apart from the fact such feed was less palatable than non-rusted grain, it was equally high in nutrient quality, he explained.

Professor MacEwan did not recommend the cutting of all rusted grain for feed. Only crops too far gone for threshing should be cut immediately, he said.

Crerar Approves Survey

Thinks Conference On Canada's Underdeveloped Wealth Would Be Valuable

Winnipeg.—The federal department of mines and natural resources would be glad to call a conference with provincial governments to survey Canada's undeveloped wealth in agriculture, mining, water-power and timber, Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of mines and resources, said here.

"But I feel there should be general unanimity as to the desirability and usefulness of such a conference before any steps were taken to convene it," Mr. Crerar said, indicating such a survey would be of great value.

PLAN SUBMITTED BY CZECHS HAS BEEN REFUSED

Praha.—The pro-Nazi Sudeten German party replied to the Czechoslovak government's plan for solution of the tangled minority problem with a 15-page memorandum stating there still was "a deep cleft" between the stands of the government and the party.

At one point the statement said there was an "unbridgeable gap" between the government's minority proposals and those of the Sudeten German party, representing, with the backing of Nazi Germany, most of Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Germanic minority.

One of the most important of these points was a demand the Sudeten Germans be granted autonomous administration of all German districts "in all departments of public life."

It also appeared to be the main stumbling block. The Czechoslovak government considers the state exclusively its own, demanding nationalities such as Germans, Poles, Slovaks and Hungarians be subordinated.

But the statement said also "we are still prepared to discuss how the crisis of the state can be solved on the foundation" of the eight-point demands presented by Konrad Henlein, party leader, April 24.

The Sudeten memorandum apparently confirmed a fear in political quarters the mission of the British mediator, Viscount Runciman, now in its third week, has failed to bring closer together the Berlin-backed Sudeten and the Czechoslovak government.

Responsible political quarters in Praha were inclined to take a rosy view of the memorandum despite its unconciliatory tone, basing their outlook on the fact the Sudeten kept open the door to future negotiations.

The Sudeten memorandum was prepared before a delegation of Sudeten Germans met around a conference table with government heads, but was not released until after the session.

A note of optimism also was reflected in a government communique issued after the meeting.

Labor Cost Is Handicap

Chief Obstacle To Building British Aircraft In Canada

Winnipeg.—Western Canada will probably share in the proposed British plan to build airplanes in Canada only if it emerges as a long-range plan over a period of five or more years, Sir Edward Ellington said here before departing for Fort Williams.

Sir Edward, inspector-general of the Royal Air Force and a member of the British mission visiting Canada to inspect possible facilities for manufacture of planes and parts, arrived here from the Far East via the United States and Vancouver.

Chief obstacle to the scheme of building aircraft for the R.A.F. in this country is the cost of labor, Sir Edward said. He thought labor was twice as high here as in Great Britain.

Western Canada's hopes of sharing in the project were not bright for the immediate future, he said. "It would take at least two years before anything could be done in the west."

Refugees May Stay

Berne, Switzerland.—Police chiefs of the various Swiss cantons decided that more than 1,000 refugees who have crossed the Swiss frontier illegally from German Austria would be tolerated for the present. A warning was issued, however, that all would be shipped back if the flood of refugees continued.

FRUIT GROWING ON THE PRAIRIES

"The prairie farmer will soon be growing delectable bronze-gold apricots on his land if the successful experiments at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Morden, Manitoba, are any criterion. Our photograph shows the harvesting of the "Scout" apricots, known as "Morden 600" from a 12-foot apricot tree which bears apricots 1½ inches long. The original seed was received as exchange from a co-operating horticulturist in Manchuria, and has proved very successful.

Morden will lead to a series of hardy quality apricot trees in prairie gardens, in addition to the apples, pears, cherries and other fruits which the Dominion Experimental Farms have made possible.

Showed Large Decrease

Less Wheat Shipped Overseas From Canada Last Crop Year

Fort William.—Figures released by the statistics branch of the board of grain commissioners showed a large decrease in overseas shipments of Canadian wheat during the crop year ended July 31, 1938, compared with the previous year.

During the 1938 crop year 77,137,674 bushels of wheat of all varieties were shipped overseas in comparison with 145,886,172 bushels the previous year.

Total exports of wheat and wheat flour during the crop year were equivalent to slightly more than 95,000,000 bushels of wheat. The carry-over of 24,893,801 bushels in all positions at July 31 is the smallest for a number of years.

UNITED STATES CONSIDERS WHEAT SUBSIDY PROGRAM

Washington.—Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, said the United States would confer with Canadian officials on a wheat subsidy program designed to assure both countries their "fair share" of the world markets.

He said the administration hoped to develop a plan for placing at least 100,000,000 bushels of surplus United States wheat into world markets during the current marketing season.

"It is our hope," Wallace said, "that we can work co-operatively with Canada on this matter to preserve the interests of both countries."

Canada, one of the world's largest wheat-producing countries, has announced a subsidy program. It will pay farmers a set price for their grain and sell it at cost at present meeting foreign competition. The Canadian government will make up any losses.

Wallace said he was not ready to discuss methods this country might use in subsidizing exports. Various plans now are being discussed at conferences with state and treasury department officials, he said.

Wallace said he did not believe limited subsidization of wheat exports would interfere with the recent trade agreement program of Secretary Hull of the state department.

Government officials expressed interest in a Washington report Agriculture Secretary Wallace was considering loans to China for purchase of United States wheat flour and recalled that several years ago Canada looked into the possibilities of marketing wheat in China.

The Washington dispatch said U.S. government farm experts were studying the possibilities of a long-term agreement among wheat-exporting countries for a quota sales system but for the marketing of the 1938 crop they were considering export subsidies for 100,000,000 bushels and loans to China for the purchase of U.S. flour.

Canada's plan to market wheat in China was not developed after two chief difficulties were met—financing sales and the Chinese preference for rice foods.

Ottawa.—Government circles in the Canadian capital indicated interest in the statement made by Agriculture Secretary Wallace at Washington that he would discuss the wheat export situation with Canadian authorities before deciding on a contemplated export subsidy program.

The announced policy of the present Canadian government and the wheat board is not to hold Canadian wheat off the market but to offer it continuously for sale at competitive prices. Whether this policy could be harmonized with an international quota agreement such as Mr. Wallace contemplates is a question no authority here was able to answer.

A session of parliament might be needed to give the government authority necessary to interfere with export trade to the extent of limiting the shipment of wheat out of Canada unless the wheat board, which will probably handle the bulk of the crop, by refusing to sell in excess of the quota allotted to this country, made export shipments conform to the proposed agreement.

Given Freedom Of Grounds

Glasgow, Scotland.—Miss Dorrita Walsh, of Englewood, N.J., entered the turnstiles of the Glasgow Empire Exhibition and thereby won the freedom of the grounds as the 7,000,000th person to visit the fair. She was greeted upon her entry by Capt. E. J. Graham, manager of the exhibition.

DENY BRITISH PREMIER AND HALIFAX DIFFER

London.—Reports of disagreement between Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax over Great Britain's foreign policy in relation to Germany were described in official circles as "preposterous and mischievous at this time."

There was no indication in Whitehall of any major conflict between the two government leaders, nor any promise that Great Britain would see another incident comparable to the resignation last February of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Reports said Viscount Halifax had concluded Eden was right in his plan for a firm stand against the dictator countries, giving rise to rumors the foreign secretary might seek to be relieved of his duties.

The reports apparently originated in London's Czechoslovak colony.

It was recalled, however, when Lord Halifax accepted the post after Mr. Eden resigned last February, he said he wished his appointment to be of short duration. Mr. Eden resigned in protest against Prime Minister Chamberlain's policy of negotiating with the dictator countries, particularly Italy, without prior promises.

The reports suggested Lord Halifax was worried by the delay in ripening of the Anglo-Italian agreement, signed at Easter but never made effective; the persistently insoluble appearance of the Spanish civil war, and the tendency of the dictators to draw even more closely together.

On the other hand, it was believed the reports might have arisen from Czech wishful thinking, as a stiffening of the British attitude towards Germany would strengthen them in their right against demands of the Sudeten German minority in their country.

In Whitehall there was no indication Mr. Chamberlain intended any departure from his policy of British appeasement, despite slow progress.

Must Hoard Grain

Germany Sees It Desirable As A Preparedness Measure

Berlin.—Joint manoeuvres next month between 50,000 British and German regulars and reserves will be accompanied by a phase of war preparedness concerning which little has been said—the hoarding of grain.

According to the Berlin newspaper Märkische Volkszeitung, the readers of which are largely Brandenburg and Pommern farmers, "the strained international situation makes it seem desirable for Germany to embark upon a storage policy to the fullest extent possible."

In the German view, grain hoarding—like the full manoeuvres—should not be regarded as an indication of warlike or aggressive intentions, but merely as a preparatory measure. A decision was last Friday authorized the government to commandeer storage space.
